The situation of human rights in Estonia and Latvia

At its forty-seventh session,[1] the General Assembly noted with concern the existence of certain problems that involve large groups of population in Estonia and Latvia; called upon the States concerned to intensify their efforts on the bilateral level aimed at resolving concerns with regard to the situation of the Russian-speaking population; and requested the Secretary-General to keep Member States informed of the progress in the field of human rights in Estonia and Latvia and to report thereon to the Assembly at its forty-eighth session under the item entitled "Situation of human rights in Estonia and Latvia" (resolution 47/115).

At its forty-eighth session,[2] the General Assembly, having considered the report of the Secretary-General (A/48/511), noted the existence of unresolved issues that involve large groups of population of different ethnic origin; requested the Secretary-General to keep Member States informed of the situation of human rights in Estonia and Latvia; and decided to consider the question at one of its future sessions (resolution 48/155).

Information will be provided to the General Assembly at its fifty-first session, in accordance with resolution 48/155.
